4. REPORTS
   I. Update from the Principal, Markus Stock
      (Presentation attached – Appendix 1)

Land Acknowledgement
   • I would like to start by acknowledging the land on which University College stands. We operate on the traditional lands of Huron-Wendat, Haudenosaunee, and Anishinaabe people. We appreciate our privilege of having partnerships with our Indigenous colleagues, students, and staff in this institution.
   • I encourage those on this call to please reflect on the Indigenous presence and histories of the land from where you are viewing today’s University College Council
UC’s Response to the Truth and Reconciliation Commission Follow-Up Report
  • Later today, we will talk about Indigenous initiatives at the College, following up on UC Response to the TRC report (2019) from two years ago
    o Grateful for John Marshall’s leadership on original report
    o We will hear the report and have a conversation around what the College has done and what it intends to do in the future to live up to UC’s commitment to Indigenous partnerships, and understanding our history, our present, and especially our role in helping to forge futures

COVID-19 and End of Term
  • Immensely grateful to faculty members, staff members, and especially to students who made this term possible
    o Students have been champions in this unusual situation
  • Luckily, unlike other parts of the world, Ontario has not seen dramatic spikes in COVID-19 cases
    o Able to have term which continues to have considerable in-person components
  • Thankful for good spirits found all over the College
    o Particularly grateful for collective will and determination to keep everyone safe

Convocation
  • Fall convocation took place yesterday, Thurs. Nov. 18
    o Virtual convocation
  • Met UC convocation ambassador, Khaled Elemam
    o Spoke about his student experience at University in a way that summed up most important parts ▪ International student from Egypt, came to U of T on a Pearson scholarship
      ▪ Included in cutting-edge research in the lab
      ▪ Most importantly, found community and friends at UC through residence council and other means
      ▪ Great summary on what UC stands for: students being a part of cutting-edge research institution, but also being able to feel at home surrounded by a caring community and positive experiences

Mental Health Supports and Resources
  • Many additional stressors on the horizon
    o Winter starting; shorter days, and cold weather

II. Follow-Up Report on University College’s Response to the Truth and Reconciliation Commission Calls to Action

Gabrielle Fournier, UC Indigenous Initiatives Advisor
(UC Response to the TRC Report (2019) and Follow-Up Report (2021) attached - Appendices 2 & 3)
- Markus introduces Gabrielle Fournier

Gabrielle Fournier, UC Indigenous Initiatives Advisor
- Focusing on highlights in 2021 report: Follow-Up Report on UC Response to the TRC (UC Response to the TRC Follow-Up Report (2021))
  - Report was circulated with College Council agenda for review
- Background information on how this report came about
  - In November 2019, report entitled UC Committee Responding to Canada’s Truth and Reconciliation Commission (UC Response to the TRC (2019)) was ratified at College Council
  - Authored by committee at UC whose purpose was to examine Calls to Action from:
    - University of Toronto: Answering the Call Wecheehetowin: Final Report of the Steering Committee for the University of Toronto Response to the Truth and Reconciliation Commission of Canada (2017)
    - Faculty of Arts and Science, U of T: Decanal Working Group on Indigenous Teaching and Learning (2018)
  - In response to above three documents, UC Response to the TRC (2019) outlines 12 recommendations that offer suggestions for how UC community can participate in reconciliation at College level
  - Final recommendation of UC Response to the TRC (2019) proposes that “the actions called for within this report should be reviewed by a biennial report to College Council”
    - UC Response to the TRC Follow-Up Report (2021) was prepared in response to this recommendation
    - Means of reflecting on what has been completed so far, and considering what future work needs to be done
  - Thanks to committee who authored UC Response to the TRC (2019)
  - Thanks to various units and groups who are named in, and assisted with preparation of UC Response to the TRC Follow-Up Report (2021)
• UC Response to the TRC Follow-Up Report (2021) is divided sections based on the different UC units and groups
  o In the interest of time, will not go through full report, but will provide information on highlights of report based on identified general themes:
    ▪ Review and creation of signage
    ▪ Creation of smudging space
    ▪ Scholarships and provision of student financial assistance
    ▪ Development of student programming
    ▪ UC programs and courses
    ▪ Additional and ongoing initiatives

• Review and creation of signage
  o Corresponds with recommendation #1 of UC Response to the TRC (2019), addressed to Office of the Principal o Described on pages 1-2 (UC Response to the TRC Follow-Up Report (2021))
  o Focuses on signage
    ▪ Calls for UC Principal to contact Historic Sites and Monuments Board of Canada (HSMBC) to request inscriptions on two plaques outside main UC Building be updated to include acknowledgement of Indigenous peoples and land, to include Indigenous history
      - UC Principal has completed this task, and HSMBC acknowledged need for review of this signage, but were unable to provide precise timeline due to complexities associated with historic research involved on their end
      - UC Principal commits to follow up regularly with HSMBC to check in on status of signage review
      - UC will consider whether additional exterior signage would be beneficial ▪ Calls for creation of signage within main UC building that acknowledge presence of Indigenous peoples and communities within “the lands and in the life of UC”
      - UC is in process of striking a committee whose purpose would be to determine how this recommendation should be implemented and to advise UC Principal on next steps

• Creation of smudging space
  o Corresponds with recommendations #2 and #5 of UC Response to the TRC (2019), addressed to Office of the Principal and Office of the Dean of Students
  o Described on page 2 (UC Response to the TRC Follow-Up Report (2021))
  o During planning for renovations of UC building, creation of smudging space was considered, specifically in Clark Reading Room and Paul Cadario Conference Centre at Croft Chapter House, however, it was determined to be unfeasible due to age and infrastructure of building
  o Possibility of creating smudging space will be considered during planning process for future renovations to UC building and UC Union building
  o UC Response to the TRC (2019) asks that former Sir Dan’s Porter’s Office be considered as feasible smudging space for student use
    ▪ Due to drawbacks such as lack of accessibility and limited size, UC has decided not to follow this recommendation and to look for alternative locations where student smudging space can be created

• Scholarships and provision of student financial assistance
Corresponds with recommendation #3 and #11 of UC Response to the TRC (2019), addressed to Academic Advising and Registrar’s Office (AARO) and Office of Advancement

- Described on pages 2-3, and Appendix A (UC Response to the TRC Follow-Up Report (2021))

- As of Summer 2021, AARO staff have started to engage in outreach to support Indigenous identifying students registered during summer term

- AARO and Office of Advancement have worked together to establish new scholarships and amend terms of pre-existing scholarship to prioritize Indigenous students, and in some cases both Indigenous and Black students
  - Awards listed on Appendix A (page 8) in UC Response to the TRC Follow-Up Report (2021) (Appendix 3)
  - Currently four awards approved and three in progress

- Fundraising staff at Office of Advancement have been trained to communicate to potential donors that Indigenous students are included in needs and priorities

- Development of student programming
  - Corresponds with recommendation #4 of UC Response to the TRC (2019), addressed to Office of the Dean of Students
  - Described on page 3 (UC Response to the TRC Follow-Up Report (2021))
  - Recommendation focuses mainly on physical space within UC
    - Restrictions caused by COVID-19 pandemic were identified as major challenges in implementing recommendations in 2020-21 academic year
  - Considering feasibility for mentorship program and/or Living Learning Community (LLC) for Indigenous students at UC
  - Additional initiatives that may need to be developed in consultation with First Nations House will also be considered

- UC programs and courses
  - Corresponds with recommendations #6-10 of UC Response to the TRC (2019), addressing all UC programs (Canadian Studies, Cognitive Science, Health Studies, and UC One: Engaging Toronto)
  - Described on pages 3-5 (UC Response to the TRC Follow-Up Report (2021))
  - Due to time constraints, will not discuss these initiatives at Council
    - Overview of initiatives in which UC programs and courses are engaged available in UC Response to the TRC Follow-Up Report (2021) (Appendix 3)

- Additional and ongoing initiatives
  - Not originally included in UC Response to the TRC (2019)
  - Described on pages 6-7 (UC Response to the TRC Follow-Up Report (2021))
  - Indigenous Initiatives at UC Library
  - Cultural competency training for UC staff and faculty
  - Need to conduct research to better understand history of UC’s relationship to Indigenous peoples and land
    - Particularly when College was established, and UC building was constructed

Question: Is there an initiative that you find most important? Is there something that you would like to see more of or highlighted? Do you see anything missing?

Answer (UC Indigenous Advisor): Of course, all of the initiatives are important, but after consulting with various groups and units at UC, one priority that I noticed emerge was the need to implement actions that have direct and tangible benefits for Indigenous students. Such as continuing work that has been done to create scholarships and providing financial assistance, developing meaningful programming for students, and creating student spaces that are welcoming and inclusive, which involves the creation of smudging space.

Comment: In terms of comment, I want to say how thankful I am that this work is continuing with such care and long-term vision. I read the report and am heartened by the work that everyone has been doing. I wanted to say thank you.

Comment: I would like to highlight that the original report really got us thinking about what our current practices are. UC alumni have been helpful in formulating goals and moving in tangible steps. Special thanks to the AARO and Office of Advancement for thinking about ways in which reference to Indigenous students can be written more clearly into existing and new scholarships. Grateful that UC alumni think that this is a priority too.

Question: Is it known who the first Indigenous alumnus of UC was, and are they honoured in any way?

Answer (Council Member): We think there was a Métis student at UC in the middle of the 19th century, mentioned in a UC article a few years ago. This information is current best guess, but not certain. Many questions about status and identity rise when we look for this information. We have some data, but unable to answer clearly without reviewing.

Follow-up answer (UC Librarian):

Link to UC history in pictures 1850s and 60s

On this page: James Ross (UC 1857), and brief biography: a teacher, public servant, journalist, and lawyer from the Red River Settlement. His mother was a member of the Syilx Okanagan First Nation; his father was a fur trader and politician from Scotland. (Photo: Archives of Manitoba.)

Question: Could the topic of smudging space be unpacked a little bit? The age of the UC building was noted as an impediment, but are there any conversations or suggestions around how to retrofit spaces so that the addition of smudging spaces can be a priority?

Answer (UC CAO): The UC building is historic, and to create smudging spaces and appropriate retrofits for smudging is complex.

Recently, in the new Paul Cadario Conference Centre at Croft Chapter House, UC ran a program which included a group that participated in wet smudging and it was quite successful.

Follow-up answer (UC Principal): UC continues to talk to other units and people on St. George campus to see what is going on in vicinity of UC regarding smudging space but also regarding other Indigenous initiatives. This conversation must include Centre for Indigenous Studies, First Nations House, and other groups on St. George campus. Consultations will be ongoing.

For outdoor spaces, the Landmark Project includes the creation of an Indigenous garden between Hart House and UC building. Continue to participate in conversations with units in our vicinity to present the best possible solutions.

Comment: Lending support for the creation of a space for dry, smoke smudging to take place at UC. It is very important not only as a statement, but as an actual space where a certain practice can be done.
Question: Thank you for work on the UC Response to TRC Follow-Up Report (2021). Where can people find a repository of all this information? One challenge and barrier identified by students and student groups is accessing these reports and follow up conversations, discussions, and other records. What might be the best way to move forward to make sure that these important discussion pieces are accessible for entire UC community in a fashion that is meaningful, and positions Indigenous initiatives front and center as a UC priority.

Answer (UC Indigenous Initiatives Advisor): Access is vital for the community to continue to have conversations on this topic. The documents need to be made available in a way that is accessible.

Follow-Up Answer (Council Secretary): There has been discussion on creating a webpage on the UC website where documents would be available. This would include the original UC Response to TRC Report (2019), as well as the UC Response to TRC Follow-Up Report (2021). The content of this webpage first requires consultation. For the time being, the reports can be found on the UC website Governance page: https://www.uc.utoronto.ca/about-uc-our-story-our-governance along with College Council minutes that have been ratified by Council.

A news item will be populated to the front page of UC website after College Council today to draw attention to newly ratified UC Response to TRC Follow-Up Report (2021) and will also include the UC Response to TRC Report (2019) for reference.

• In January, will be reaching out to start budget meetings for UC Operational budget for 2022-23

Question: Have additional bike racks for bicycle parking been added into the plans of Landmark Project? If only available at north side of the building, will be underutilized due to low traffic in that area.

Answer: New bike racks have been added to northwest and southwest sides of Sir Daniel Wilson Quad. New bike racks have also recently been added to UC residence buildings, so this may free up spots in Sir Daniel Wilson Quad. No plans for bike racks to be added into UC Clark Quad. Bicycle parking still available in laneway between alumni house and Sir Daniel Wilson residence building.

Question: Has there been discussion about picnic tables in the UC Clark Quad? Really popular amongst students, and often go to other Colleges such as Innis to access picnic tables.

Answer: Yes, three long tables with bench seating similar to picnic benches will be installed on south side of UC Clark Quad, on either side of new elevator. Plans for installation in December. Currently, tables and chairs have been added and are available for seating.

Comment: Excited for energetic new initiative at University College. Very proud of partnership, and QTRL lifts SDS to a new level. Hope and believe that SDS and UC will benefit from this energy.
Question: Can you tell us a bit more about how students were recruited for lab, and how they are integrated into your work or the work of the lab?

Answer: Most students were affiliated with SDS community; were students or previous research assistants. Students provide support to lab members, working collaboratively. Lab members also provide support and mentorship for research assistants, especially graduate students as they go through Masters and PhD processes. Lab member projects have also been informing graduate work, and other work at U of T or in Toronto.

6. Other Business

Question: For clarity, will there be a holiday party at UC this year?

Answer: No holiday party for UC due to size of unit and health and safety measures. Other areas of college are hosting holiday parties for smaller units, or ‘first come first serve’ style for larger units, but this style is not ideal. UC has been thinking about community building activities, as this is one of the challenges of the ongoing COVID-19 pandemic. Looking forward to when gathering will be safe again.

University College Committee Responding to Canada’s Truth and Reconciliation Commission, 6 November 2019

Introduction

In 2018 University College (UC) Council authorized a committee that would examine the recommendations of Honouring the Truth, Reconciling for the Future Summary of the Final Report of the Truth and Reconciliation Commission of Canada (2015), Answering the Call - Wecheehetowin: Final Report of the Steering Committee for the University of Toronto Response to the Truth and Reconciliation Commission of Canada (2017), and The Report of the Decanal Working Group on Indigenous Teaching and Learning (2018) in order to make recommendations for action at University College that would participate in the national project of Truth and Reconciliation. The committee consisted of students (Alisa Christian, Lama Karim, Ziigwen Mixemong), staff (Shannon Simpson, Director of First Nations House, and formerly seconded to the UC Registrar’s Office), faculty (Alana Johns, former Director of Indigenous Studies, Professor Emeritus), and administrators (John Marshall, Vice Principal and Associate Professor, Department for the Study of Religion). The committee met three times in order: first, to digest the reports of the Truth and Reconciliation Commission (TRC), and the University of Toronto’s (U of T), and the Faculty of Arts & Science’s (FAS) responses, and to describe input needed from units in University College; second, to consider input from UC units and formulate draft recommendations; and third, to evaluate and shape a preliminary version of this report. Weather, commitments, and other logistical challenges made in person participation less than total in some instances, but electronic communication served as a back up. The report was also presented for student feedback to the Indigenous Student Advisory group at First Nations House on 18 October 2019. Their input was valuable to the report and has been incorporated.

The committee recognizes and affirms that the process of Truth and Reconciliation is a long term project. It may take generations. It will certainly take will, focus, resources, and understanding. Our aim is to build a foundation for University College to make the process of Truth and Reconciliation basic to our operations, to provide suggestions for improvement of our current processes and delivery of services, and to promote the telling of truth about the interactions between University College and the Indigenous peoples of Turtle Island.

Current Practice at University College

Our first meeting on 26 November 2018 reviewed the reports of the TRC, the University of Toronto, and the Faculty of Arts and Science. On the basis of the recommendations of those reports, the committee sent queries to the UC registrarial services, student services, directors of UC programs, the Principal of the College, and the acting Director of Advancement, making inquiries about the ways in which those areas of UC already serve the goals of truth and reconciliation. Our thinking was that recommendations need to be based on a knowledge of what is going on already and where needs lie.

The committee’s second meeting, 28 January 2019, reviewed that input and discussed draft recommendations which were in turn transformed into a preliminary report.

Unfortunately, due to unforeseen circumstances, the third meeting did not go ahead as scheduled. Instead, consultation took place over email.

There is a long project in the pursuit of truth that was beyond the capacity of the one-year committee. The truth of the University of Toronto’s and University College’s relations to Indigenous land and Indigenous people needs to be told. This includes the history of the campus lands, the history and process of clergy lands that the Crown acquired by various means and which funded the construction of the University College main building, and also the early history of Indigenous students at the College and the U of T. This is a larger task than the capacities of University College can address, but the college needs to participate in the an effort by the University of Toronto to address these questions of truth that are necessary to any genuine reconciliation.

What follows is a summary of the input from the various divisions of University College.

- Health Studies
  The Health Studies program has introduced INS 200H1 “Introduction to Indigenous Truth and Resilience” as an alternative to PHL 281H1 “Bioethics.”
  Students must take one of these two courses in order to fulfill a major or specialist in Health Studies. The Health Studies program has offered and is working to continue offering HST 309H1 “Special Topics in Health Studies II: Indigenous Health and Healing in the Six Nations,” which has a significant field experience component where most of the teaching is by Indigenous Elders and community members. INS 205H, 340Y, and 250H are also listed as suitable to be counted towards a Health Studies major or specialist program.

- Canadian Studies
  Canadian Studies courses frequently include focus on Indigenous issues and make use of materials by Indigenous authors and concerning Canada’s Indigenous people (CDN 230H, 267H, 268H, 367H, 396H). The program’s experiential learning course (435Y “Active Citizenship in a Canadian Context”) has included placements in 365H: “The Canadian Arctic”, and JUG 320H: “The Canadian Wilderness” offer considerable focus on Indigenous issues. In the January 2020 school term, Canadian Studies is offering two first year foundation seminars that include significant focus on Indigenous issues: CDN 198H “Canada, Colonialism and Settler Relations” and CDN 197H “Inventing Canada”.
• Cognitive Science

The Cognitive Science program, being less socially and/or regionally located than other UC programs has less focus on course content concerning Indigenous peoples, though COG 260H Data, Computation, and the Mind offers significant attention to the specificity of numeral systems in Indigenous cultures in Amazonian regions.

• UC One

UC One consists of four streams and the plenary activities of the streams acting together. In plenary terms, several speakers have addressed questions of Indigeneity, namely Chief Carolyn King of the Mississaugas of the New Credit First Nation, and Donna Michelle St. Bernard (former director of Native Earth Performing Arts, Canada’s oldest professional Indigenous theatre company).

Individual courses such as UNI 103 “Gradients of Health in the Urban Mosaic” treat Indigenous health services in Toronto directly. The topics treated by UNI 102 “Performing the City” vary in relation to the theatre offerings in the city in a given term but have included plays treating First Nations peoples.

• The UC Registrar’s Office

Advisors in the Registrar’s Office work closely and collaboratively with the team at First Nations House (FNH) in supporting Indigenous students. Advisors liaise regularly with the team at FNH to connect Indigenous students at UC with culturally specific supports and resources available to them on campus. Financial Aid Advisors in the Registrar’s Office also work one-on-one and have extensive experience assisting Indigenous students with issues pertaining to institutional financial support and Band Support Funding. The Registrar’s Office now administers a new scholarship that prioritizes students who identify as Black or Indigenous and continues to prioritize the needs of all underrepresented groups, including Indigenous students.

- The Office of the Dean of Students

  The Office of the Dean of Students has been attentive to professional development for staff to ensure that they are equipped to support Indigenous students and make appropriate referrals to existing services and programs. Specific student programming is usually opportunity driven; student tours of the “I Continue to Shape” and Kent Monkman exhibits at the Art Museum, Orange Shirt Day programming, and a walking tour of the Indigenous histories of the St. George Campus are recent examples. The Office of the Dean of Students has also been an active sponsor of pow wows on the St. George Campus.

- Conclusion

  This narrative of what is going on is not meant to be celebratory or exculpatory, but to set a context for the recommendations that follow. It is clear that work is underway, and that work must be continued and extended. The committee hopes our work can help develop UC’s participation in the endeavour of truth and reconciliation.

Calls to Action from the TRC, the University of Toronto, and the Faculty of Arts and Science

In addition to the units treated in the previous section, the committee also sought input on specific questions from the Principal of University College, Prof. Donald Ainslie, from the Director of the Centre for Indigenous Studies, Prof. Susan Hill, from its former director, Prof. Keren Rice, and from the Acting Director of Advancement at UC, Larry Davies. Their input, combined with that of the units above contribute to the recommendations that follow. The recommendations below are organized in relation to specific calls to action from the TRC, the University of Toronto, and the Faculty of Arts and Sciences. While the committee supports those reports in their entirety, we focus on those areas of action that fall within the scope of action available to the College. We preface our recommendations with the appropriate calls to action from the three reports cited above. We abbreviate them as TRC, UT, and A&S with accompanying call numbers.

The meetings of the committee, in addition to making the recommendations below, also included thanks and affirmation of work underway, as well as consideration of types of support from the Faculty of Arts and Science, and from the University as a whole, that are necessary to further the project of truth and reconciliation. Our recommendations are made in coordination with this recognition, thanks, and advocacy.

• For the Principal of University College

With regard to UT#4 (Short-Term Call to Action: The University should launch a process to identify and name appropriate spaces on the three campuses using Indigenous languages.)

#1 We recommend that the Principal of University College open dialogue with Heritage Canada to revise the signage at the front of the College to include narration of the role of Indigenous lands, and its concentration through clergy lands, in the financing of the University College building.

We further recommend signage or other recognition in the new hallway from the elevator to the main second floor space of the role of Indigenous peoples on the lands and in the life of University College.

For all of these actions, appropriate languages should be Mohawk and Anishinaabemowin when and if Indigenous languages are appropriate to the signage in question. Consultation with Elders and/or traditional teachers should be part of these processes.
With regard to UT#5 (Call to Action: All renovation and new construction on campus should take smudging into consideration in the design process.)

#2 We recommend that efforts be made to ensure the possibility of smudging in, if possible, the Clarke Reading Room and the Cadario Conference Centre at Croft Chapter House. In the longer term, this should be part of planning for any renovations to the UC Union building.

• For the Registrar of University College

In regard to FAS#6 (Ensure college and faculty/registrarial offices are equipped to meet the diverse needs of Indigenous students by hiring Indigenous registrarial staff, providing ongoing staff training, developing awareness of on-campus services and by developing relationships with community resources and support networks to which students can be referred) and FAS#7 (For the start of the 2018-2019 academic year, put in place new academic supports for Indigenous students enrolled in the Faculty, regardless of program, such as a First Year Learning Community and a Mentorship program.)

#3 We recommend that the Office of the Registrar make a special effort to provide summer financial support for Indigenous students. They often need to complete program obligations outside the regular Fall/Winter cycle and the committee judged that summer support could make a meaningful and supportive intervention into their course of study. This may involve examination of the terms of individual endowments for student to support to learn if their resources could be directed in this manner.

We further recommend, for reasons similar to those given above, that the Registrar make a similar effort to provide support for Indigenous students undertaking part-time study.

We also recommend that the Office of the Registrar explore the terms of its scholarships to see if there are others that could prioritise support for Indigenous students.

• For the Dean of Students at University College
In regard to FAS#7: (For the start of the 2018-2019 academic year, put in place new academic supports for Indigenous students enrolled in the Faculty, regardless of program, such as a First Year Learning Community and a Mentorship program.)

#4 We recommend that the Dean of Students support the development of residence contexts that are supportive to Indigenous students. This may be a contiguous “neighbourhood” within UC for Indigenous students who seek this, or it may be an endeavour undertaken more extensively by cooperation of colleges on the St. George Campus. The more general roommate matching procedure may be the place to undertake this. Consultation with First Nations House is advisable for this procedure.

With regard to UT#5 (Call to Action: All renovation and new construction on campus should take smudging into consideration in the design process.)

#5 Given that space on campus for individual smudging is scarce, the committee recommends that the Dean of Students continue exploration of whether the former Sir Dan’s Porter’s Office could be converted into a smudging space for Indigenous students. It may also be bookable for appropriately sized gatherings that would start with smudging.

• For the Director of the Health Studies Program

In regard to FAS#11 (Ask faculty within all Arts & Science units to review their curriculum and learning materials with the goal of ensuring that course content concerning Indigenous peoples reflects best practices and contemporary scholarship), and FAS#16 (Provide opportunities for students to experience land-based pedagogies so that they can learn within Indigenous worldviews on the land, with Indigenous knowledge experts. Land-based pedagogies include the study of the complex and sophisticated relationships with citified Indigenous territories, including Tkaronto.)

#6 Our recommendation is mainly an expression of support for the endeavour and the structure of HST 309H1 “Special Topics in Health Studies II: Indigenous Health and Healing in the Six Nations.” We recommend to the College that it offer administrative, advancement, and logistical support to this endeavour. We further recommend developing cooperation with Indigenous Studies inasmuch as the resources of Indigenous Studies and the program structure of Health Studies make this possible.

- For the Director of the Canadian Studies Program

In regard to FAS#11 (Ask faculty within all Arts & Science units to review their curriculum and learning materials with the goal of ensuring that course content concerning Indigenous peoples reflects best practices and contemporary scholarship), and FAS#16 (Provide opportunities for students to experience land-based pedagogies so that they can learn within Indigenous worldviews on the land, with Indigenous knowledge experts. Land-based pedagogies include the study of the complex and sophisticated relationships with citified Indigenous territories, including Tkaronto.)

#7 Recognizing that the relation of Canadian Studies to Indigenous Studies needs to enact the nation-to-nation model of relationship that should govern Canada’s relation to First Nations, we recommend continued development of joint curriculum, joint courses, joint events, joint speakers, and perhaps in the medium- to long-term, joint faculty with Indigenous Studies. The requirement of a course in Indigenous Studies for the Canadian Studies Program should also be considered.

These endeavours depend on recognition of the capacity of both units. Discussions with Keren Rice affirmed the value of absolute independence of the two units even as genuine cooperation is eminently desirable.

- For the Director of the Cognitive Science Program

In regard to FAS#11 (Ask faculty within all Arts & Science units to review their curriculum and learning materials with the goal of ensuring that course content concerning Indigenous peoples reflects best practices and contemporary scholarship), and FAS#16 (Provide opportunities for students to experience land-based pedagogies so that they can learn within Indigenous worldviews on the land, with Indigenous knowledge experts. Land-based pedagogies include the study of the complex and sophisticated relationships with citified Indigenous territories, including Tkaronto.)

#8 Recognizing the particular challenges for Cognitive Science on this topic we affirm the attention to diverse modes of cognition and we urge the program to consider ways in which it can address the diverse ways of knowing implied by various language systems and culturally specific regimes of knowledge.

- For the Vice-Principal of University College, as co-ordinator of UC One

In regard to FAS#11 (Ask faculty within all Arts & Science units to review their curriculum and learning materials with the goal of ensuring that course content concerning Indigenous peoples reflects best practices and contemporary scholarship), and FAS#16 (Provide opportunities for students to experience land-based pedagogies so that they can learn within Indigenous worldviews on the land, with Indigenous knowledge experts. Land-based pedagogies include the study of the complex and sophisticated relationships with citified Indigenous territories, including Tkaronto.)

#9 The Committee recommends continued inclusion of Indigenous speakers in the plenary meetings and other instruction of UC One courses, as well as Indigenous literature among the readings.

- Other issues

A few other issues arose that did not quite match the data the committee gathered but concerning which we wish to encourage interaction with.

#10 As the Art Museum at the University of Toronto, which includes the U of T Art Centre at UC, increases its focus on Indigenous art, we want to encourage cooperation with UC programs, especially Canadian Studies and UC One.

The FAS call to Action #1 concerning the establishment of an Indigenous College offers starting points for action that include an annual Orientation Week pow wow. Whether or not an actual pow wow is feasible for that time, the College should cooperate with and support the UC Lit in participating in any FAS wide Indigenous themed event during orientation.
#11 In order to realize many of the actions called for in the reports of the University of Toronto, the Faculty of Arts and Science, and this report, we call upon the Director of Advancement for University College, in consultation with the Principal, to include these responses within the advancement priorities of their office.

Conclusion

The operation of this committee and of those who have contributed to it represent an early step in a process that will be ongoing. The committee wishes to thank all those involved for their care and commitment to truth and reconciliation. Our final recommendation is thus:

#12 The actions called for within this report should be reviewed by a biennial report to College Council until council sets up other processes to continue the work.

Follow-Up Report on University College’s Response to the Truth and Reconciliation Commission Calls to Action (November 2021)

Introduction and Purpose
This report provides an update on the status of the initiatives called for in “University College Committee Responding to Canada’s Truth and Reconciliation Commission, 6 November 2019,” referred to in this report as the “UC Response to the TRC” (2019). Throughout this report, University College is abbreviated to UC. This report was prepared by UC’s Indigenous Initiatives Advisor in consultation with the different UC units and groups identified in the 2019 “UC Response to the TRC.”

Office of the Principal
In response to recommendation #1 of “UC Response to the TRC” (2019), in 2020, the Principal of UC contacted the Historic Sites and Monuments Board of Canada (HSMBC) and requested that the inscriptions on the two HSMBC plaques at the front of the main UC building be revised to include Indigenous acknowledgement and history. HSMBC has acknowledged the need for a review of the signage and agreed to do so, but was unable to provide a specific timeline. The Principal will follow up with HSMBC regularly to check the status of the signage review. UC will consider additional exterior signage to include information that is related to Indigenous communities and currently omitted from the HSMBC signage.

This recommendation also calls for the creation of signage within the main UC building that acknowledges the presence of Indigenous peoples and communities “on the lands and in the life of University College” (“UC Response to the TRC,” 2019, p. 6). UC is in the process of striking a committee to determine what next steps should be taken with respect to the creation and installation of indoor or exterior signage and to advise the Principal of UC accordingly.
Recommendation #2 of “UC Response to the TRC” (2019) addresses the creation of smudging space at UC. During the planning stage of the renovations to the Clark Reading Room and the Paul Cadario Conference Centre in Croft Chapter House, the creation of smudging space was considered; however, it was determined to be unfeasible due to the age and infrastructure of the main UC building. The possibility of creating smudging space will be considered as part of planning for any upcoming renovations to the UC Building and the UC Union.

The 2019 “UC Response to the TRC” also asked to consider transforming the former Sir Dan’s Porter’s Office “into a smudging space for Indigenous students” (recommendation #5, p. 8). While this space would add visibility due to its central location, it has drawbacks that led UC not to follow this recommendation: the room is not accessible and is too small for gatherings. The Office of the Dean of Students is exploring alternative locations at UC where it may be feasible to create smudging space for students.

Academic Advising and Registrar’s Office, formerly the Office of the Registrar

In response to recommendation #3 of “UC Response to the TRC” (2019), the Office of the Registrar, renamed in 2021 to the Academic Advising and Registrar’s Office (AARO), has worked to establish new scholarships and amend the terms of pre-existing scholarships to prioritize Indigenous students and, in some cases, both Indigenous and Black students (please see Appendix A for a list of these awards). The AARO has worked with the Office of Advancement to express to donors that there is a priority for supporting both Indigenous and Black students.

As of Summer 2021, the AARO has also started to offer financial outreach and support to Indigenous students for the Summer term. Registrarial staff have taken a proactive approach in reaching out to Indigenous students registered in the Summer session with an offer to review their financial situation and the various supports available to them and, if appropriate, provide summer financial assistance through need-based awards and scholarships.
Indigenous students who are completing part-time studies are included in the Fall/Winter grant assessment process for part-time students.

Next steps for the AARO include: (1) continuing to focus on financial initiatives and funding opportunities that can benefit students; and (2) meeting with the Office of the Dean of Students to discuss the process and feasibility of establishing a UC mentorship program for Indigenous students, keeping in mind that First-Year Learning Communities and many other mentorship programs are administered by the Faculty of Arts of Science.

Office of the Dean of Students

As per recommendations #4 and #5, the Office of the Dean of Students supports the development of programming that creates a welcoming and supportive environment for Indigenous students both in residences and in other College spaces. Because these recommendations pertain mainly to physical space and student residence, the COVID-19 pandemic has been identified as a factor that challenged the implementation of these recommendations during the 2020-21 academic year.

Initiatives that are currently being explored are the feasibility of establishing a UC mentorship program for Indigenous students and/or the development of an Indigenous Living Learning Community at UC. Additional initiatives and meaningful programming that are developed in consultation with First Nations House (such as orientation week activities) will also be considered.

University College Programs and Courses

Recommendations #6 to #10 (“UC Response to the TRC,” 2019, pp. 8–10) pertain to the academic programs and courses at UC.

Due to funding and feasibility challenges, HST309H1 (“Special Topics in Health Studies II: Indigenous Health and Healing in the Six Nations”) is no longer offered. In Winter 2021, a new special topics course was offered: HST309H1, “Special Topics in Health Studies II: Indigenous Health in Canada.” Select Indigenous Studies courses continue to be eligible to be counted towards the Health Studies major or specialist programs, and students of the Health Studies Program are encouraged to consider taking these courses. They include INS200H1 (“Introduction to Indigenous Truth and Resilience”), INS205H1 (“Indigenous Worldviews, Spiritual and Healing Traditions”), INS340Y1 (“Indigenous Health Science”), and INS350H1 (“Indigenous Health Systems”).

Taking courses in Indigenous Studies is recommended to students in the Canadian Studies Program. The possibility of making a course in Indigenous Studies a required course for the Canadian Studies Program is under consideration. The Director of the Canadian Studies Program has reached out to the Centre for Indigenous Studies to discuss the potential for collaboration.

Within its own courses, the program has worked to include more Indigenous content, consulting with the Indigenous Teaching & Learning liaison in the Faculty of Arts and Science. The core courses in Canadian Studies – CDN267H1 (“Canadian Nationalisms”), CDN268H1 (“Canada and Globalization”), CDN367H1 (“Canadian Pluralism”), and CDN368H1 (“Canada's Borders”) – regularly incorporate Indigenous perspectives and feature materials on Indigenous topics and by Indigenous authors. A new course has been created, CDN385H1 (“Re-Imagining Canada: Creative Visions of Our Past, Present, and Futures”), which centers Indigenous cultural representations (e.g., fiction, films, visual and performance art) in its consideration of more equitable futures. Other courses worth noting that emphasize Indigenous topics include CDN197H1 (“Inventing Canada”), CDN198H1 (“Canada, Colonialism and Settler Relations”), CDN340H1 (“The History of Canadian-US Relations”) and CDN435Y1 (“Active Citizenship in a Canadian Context”), which has included experiential learning opportunities with Indigenous organizations.

The Canadian Studies Program also organizes, with assistance from the Office of Advancement, events highlighting Indigenous speakers and contributors, such as the February 2021 Barker Fairley panel event Playing with Time (presented by the Canadian Studies Program), which featured writers who self-identify as women belonging to the BIPOC community, including Cherie Dimaline, author of The Marrow Thieves.

In the Cognitive Science Program, COG260H1 (“Data, Computation, and the Mind”) continues to include course content on the specificity of numeral systems in Indigenous cultures in Amazonian regions. In the upcoming months, the program will look at other ways to address the aims and objectives of the 2019 “UC Response to the TRC” report.

“Provide opportunities for students to experience land-based pedagogies so that they can learn within Indigenous worldviews on the land, with Indigenous knowledge experts. Land-based pedagogies include the study of the complex and sophisticated relationships with citified Indigenous territories, including Tkaronto.” (p. 27)

In response to this Call to Action, the inclusion of land-based pedagogies is being researched and considered, especially with respect to the UC One: Engaging Toronto (UC One) program which includes a significant experiential learning component. The four courses within the UC One program have also sought to include more Indigenous content, including: in course readings; Indigenous speakers often being invited to speak in courses and/or in UC One plenaries; and field trips in the city that have attended to Indigenous issues.

Office of Advancement

In response to recommendation #11 of “UC Response to the TRC” (2019), the Office of Advancement has included Indigenous initiatives among its development priorities, and “Indigenous Education” has been identified as one of four themes of the UC campaign priorities. To realize this priority, fundraising staff have been trained to emphasize that Indigenous students are included in needs and priorities when communicating with potential donors. Funding received so far has supported several scholarships for Indigenous students (please see Appendix A for a list of these awards).

In addition to development and fundraising activities, the Office of Advancement has organized communications initiatives focused on Indigenous topics, engaging Indigenous writers and artists for content creation when possible. The Office of Advancement has also organized events featuring Indigenous speakers, including the March 2020 UC Alumni Salon Series event, Community Engaged Learning: The Importance of the Indigenous Curriculum in all Ontario Classrooms.

University College Library

Although the UC Library was not included in “UC Response to the TRC” (2019), there are ways in which the UC Library has participated in and can continue to engage in Indigenous initiatives. As part of collection development activities, the UC Library actively acquires books by Indigenous authors, including fiction and non-fiction titles. The UC Library is committed to continuing with this practice. Starting in the Fall of 2021, the UC Library has opted to purchase books from Indigenous booksellers when possible. The UC Library has also engaged in outreach activities to promote books in the UC Library collection by Indigenous authors and about Indigenous topics. The UC Library will continue to participate in outreach through a variety of means, including the use of the UC Library’s Twitter account, the curation of book displays within the UC Library, and the continued use of signage in the UC Library to highlight books on Indigenous topics.

Summary and Ongoing Initiatives

The recommendations outlined in the 2019 “UC Response to the TRC” provide a foundation for continuing and future initiatives. Additional initiatives that are ongoing include:

- In July 2021, UC organized, in partnership with the Office of Indigenous Initiatives, “Reflecting on Land Acknowledgements,” a cultural competency training workshop presented by the Office of Indigenous Initiatives for UC staff. UC commits to organizing future workshops on cultural competency training and strongly encourages UC staff and faculty to participate in this training.

- UC acknowledges that additional research is required to better understand the history of UC’s relationship to Indigenous peoples and land, particularly at the time when UC was established and the main UC building was constructed. To address this need, a Postdoctoral Fellow has been conducting research on this topic; however, challenges caused by the COVID-19 pandemic have delayed the research process. Work on this initiative is ongoing.

This report acknowledges that reconciliation is an ongoing process that requires respect, thoughtfulness, dedication, and action. It is recommended that a follow-up report outlining the status of the initiatives described in this report and any additional actions that have been taken be presented to UC Council in two years.

2020-21 UC Scholarship Committee
New Award for University College Council Approval
November 2021

The following new award has been reviewed and approved by the 2020-21 UC Scholarship Committee and is now being presented to College Council for final approval.

Janet Tupper Underwood Award

To be granted to undergraduate students at University College on the basis of financial need.
Appendix 6
MOTION: Be it resolved that University College Council approves the minor program changes being proposed by Canadian Studies (and the Asian Canadian Studies minor) and Health Studies, as recommended by the UC Curriculum Committee

The proposed changes are fairly straightforward, and mostly consist of housekeeping: adding new course, removing courses that no longer exist, and/or adding clarification to program requirements. The changes are summarized as follows:

CANADIAN STUDIES (CDN):

Minor, Major and Specialist in Canadian Studies
- Changes reflect the addition of a new course to the program, CDN386 (added 2020-2021), which has been included in courses that can count towards program requirements
- Courses from other units have been added/deleted based on changes in those units
- For the Major: a change has been made regarding what 4th year courses can count towards the degree requirements

Minor in Asian Canadian Studies
- Changes have been made to reflect that CDN230H is no longer offered; a new course has been added to count towards program requirements: CDN325/CDN225 Asian Canadian Space and Place
- Changes have been added to the additional program requirements, sorting the course into three lists (3, 4 & 5) and adding a few extra courses; to reflect these changes, the description of the minor has been revised slightly

HEATH STUDIES (HST):

Major and Specialist
- Changes reflect the addition of two new courses to the program, HST305H and HST306H (added 2020-2021), which are now being added to the courses that students may take towards the completion of their degree requirements.
- The list of statistics courses that can be counted towards program requirements has been expanded
- POL101Y not longer exists and has been substituted with POL101H
Faculty of Arts & Science

Minor Program Modification Form

Use this form to develop a proposal for a Minor Modification to Program including:

- Creating a new Minor program, where there is an existing Specialist or Major program
- Closing a Minor program
- Creating or closing a Focus
- Changing a Program Type (e.g. Type 1, 2, 2L, 3) – this includes introducing or changing restrictions on enrolment in the program
- Changing Enrolment or Admission requirements
- Changing the total FCEs or required courses in program requirements

Minor program modification proposals will normally be submitted directly on CM, however this form can be used to draft a proposal that can be easily circulated in review and consultation with academic units, the Office of the Dean, or the Office of the Faculty Registrar.

Timeline

Program modifications require consultation and review with the Dean’s Office before proceeding to Governance approval. Units are encouraged to begin the consultation process as early as possible, as the Dean’s Office can assist with proposal development and ensure needed consultation is undertaken. Proposal submission on CM can be completed following full Dean’s Office review and sign-off.

The change is being made because a new course, CDN385H, was created last year (2020-21), which has been added to the course requirements.

Group 3 courses: Inclusion of approved new course, CDN385H1.

Rationale (Explain why the changes have been proposed, providing any additional information that may be helpful for review, or of relevance for Curriculum Committees. This may include connections to the unit’s priorities, recent reviews or institutional planning, or alignment with other programs.)

Inclusion of approved new course, CDN385H1, among the selection of required courses.

Impact (Specify the impact the changes will have on students, and on other units/programs. If courses listed in the program are offered by other units, include a letter of support from the head of that unit, speaking to enrolment controls and priority enrolment, if applicable.)

Students have more options towards the completion of their program.

Consultation (Describe consultation that has already been done with students, faculty, and other units.)

The proposed changes have also been approved by the University College Curriculum Committee, and University College Council [PENDING].

Diversity (How does the proposed program or modification support diversity? E.g through curriculum design supporting different learners, accommodation, etc.)

N/A

Arts & Science - Divisional Data: For further definition of these objectives, see the Degree Objectives Guidelines (July 2008).

Academic Context (Outline the context that explains why the program is designed this way, e.g. relation of program to discipline, students’ interests, career paths, etc.)

Learning Outcomes (Explain how the change affects the program learning outcomes, including disciplinary goals, relevant methodologies and skills acquired upon program completion.)
Depth of Knowledge (Explain how particular courses allow students to achieve depth of knowledge, relating to the proposed change.)

Competencies: For these five categories, describe how each competency is developed within the program to the degree relevant to the area/discipline. If the program does not address a particular competency, explain why that competency is not relevant to your area/discipline and how students in your program are expected to attain that competency within their overall degree program.

Proposal Questions - General

Brief Description of the Proposed Changes (Provide a brief summary.)
The change is being made because a new course, CDN385H, was created last year (2020-21), which is now being added to the lists of courses students can take to complete their course requirements.

In addition, the following line has been added to the description of completion requirements:
Students are responsible for checking co- and prerequisites for all courses.

Details of the Proposed Changes (Changes to program description, requirements, and program learning outcomes.)

Impact (Specify the impact the changes will have on students, and on other units/programs. If courses listed in the program are offered by other units, include a letter of support from the head of that unit, speaking to enrolment controls and priority enrolment, if applicable.)

Students have more options towards the completion of their program.

Consultation (Describe consultation that has already been done with students, faculty, and other units.)

The proposed changes have also been approved by the University College Curriculum Committee, and University College Council [PENDING].

Description
The Minor in Asian Canadian Studies focuses on community-engaged learning that explores how to understand the historical, social, cultural, economic, and political forces that affect people of Asian heritage in Canada. Our interdisciplinary courses connect students with local communities, and every course provides opportunities for students to pursue a choice of research interests. Together we critically investigate and add to knowledge about Asian Canadians.

The category "Asian Canadian" is widely understood to refer to people in Canada of East Asian, South Asian, Southeast Asian, and West Asian ancestry.

Students take two required 0.5 credit core courses in Asian Canadian Studies; select from an array of courses in Asian Canadian Studies; and take additional courses related to the larger contexts of Asian Canadian Studies. The Minor in Asian Canadian Studies is easily combined with other disciplines, such as Anthropology, Art, Economics, English, Geography, History, Political Science and Sociology, as well as with interdisciplinary studies such as Contemporary Asian Studies, Diaspora and Transnational Studies, Equity Studies, East Asian Studies, South Asian Studies, and Near Eastern Studies.

Students will be encouraged to take full advantage of the opportunities available through the Canadian Studies Program, including its journal, ImagiNATIONS, produced by and for undergraduate students and its annual undergraduate student conference. The Canadian Studies Student Union is a focal point for social as well as academic pursuits, and is open to students pursuing a Minor in Asian Canadian Studies. Students also can participate in Asian Canadian Studies student events and in the tri-campus Asian Canadian Studies Research network. The Research network brings together professors and students to discuss current research related to Asian Canadian Studies, Asian diasporas, and global Asian migrations. Students in the minor are also invited to participate in the Asian Institute’s Asian Pathways Research Lab that offers research opportunities in Toronto.

Description  Minor in Asian Canadian Studies

The Minor in Asian Canadian Studies focuses on community-engaged learning that explores how to understand the historical, social, cultural, economic, and political forces that affect people of Asian heritage in Canada. Our interdisciplinary courses connect students with local communities, and every course provides opportunities for students to pursue a choice of research interests. Together we critically investigate and add to knowledge about Asian Canadians.

The category "Asian Canadian" is widely understood to refer to people in Canada of East Asian, South Asian, Southeast Asian, and West Asian ancestry.

Students take two required 0.5 credit core courses in Asian Canadian Studies; select from an array of courses that focus on Asian Canadians and Asian Diasporas in Canada; select additional courses that provide a broader context for understanding Asian Canadian Studies; and select from a third list of courses that deal more broadly with the study of Canada. The Minor in Asian Canadian Studies is easily combined with other disciplines, such as Anthropology, Art, Economics, English, Geography, History, Political Science and Sociology, as well as with interdisciplinary studies such as Contemporary Asian Studies, Diaspora and Transnational Studies, Equity Studies, East Asian Studies, South Asian Studies, and Near Eastern Studies.

Proposal Questions - General

Brief Description of the Proposed Changes (Provide a brief summary.)
The proposed changes are being made to reflect changes in course offerings within Canadian Studies, and to ensure that students in the Asian Canadian Studies minor can draw more substantially on courses offered through the Canadian Studies program, as well as ensure breadth of subject matter.

Details of the Proposed Changes (Changes to program description, requirements, and program learning outcomes.)

1) Previously, CDN230H1 Asian Canadian History was a required course for the minor; it is no longer offered. It is being replaced with CDN325H1 / CDN225H1 Asian Canadian Space & Place.

2) The list of additional course requirements has been revised. Previously, students chose a suite of courses from Lists 3 and 4. Now, there are three Lists of courses (3, 4 & 5) to ensure students engage with a breadth of courses on or related to Asian Canadian Studies. These lists have also been updated to reflect changes in courses in other units (additions and deletions).

3) The Description of the Asian Canadian Studies Minor has been slightly revised to reflect the above changes.

Rationale (Explain why the changes have been proposed, providing any additional information that may be helpful for review, or of relevance for Curriculum Committees. This may include connections to the unit’s priorities, recent reviews or institutional planning, or alignment with other programs.)

Change to Required Courses: CDN325H1 was added as a second 0.5 FCE required the Asian Canadian Studies Minor, replacing CDN230H1 which is no longer offered.

The slight changes to the remaining 3 Lists follows from the reorganization of courses that can be counted towards the Minor and how they are categorized. The new categories ensure better breadth of knowledge by delineating the following themes: 3. Asian Canadians and Asian Diasporas in Canada and 4. Contexts of Asian Canadians, with 1 credit then drawn from 5. Other courses, which provide a broader context.

Impact (Specify the impact the changes will have on students, and on other units/programs. If courses listed in the program are offered by other units, include a letter of support from the head of that unit, speaking to enrolment controls and priority enrolment, if applicable.)

Course requirements for the Asian Canadian Studies Minor will be more grounded in courses offered by the Canadian Studies program, which will ensure that students are better able to complete their degree requirements. The list of courses that can be drawn from other units is large, to offer students optimum flexibility.

Consultation (Describe consultation that has already been done with students, faculty, and other units.)

Consultation with Professor Judith Taylor, WGS, as to addition of WGS376H1, WGS369H1, WGS482H1, as courses counting towards the ACS Minor.

Consultation with Professor Nakanyike Musisi, HIS, confirming the inclusion of HIS266H1 in Group 3.

The proposed changes have also been approved by the University College Curriculum Committee, and University College Council [PENDING].

Diversity (How does the proposed program or modification support diversity? E.g through curriculum design supporting different learners, accommodation, etc.)
Diversity is a core component of the ACS Minor, in supporting students who wish to research and study in a field that is itself highly diverse. Further, the updated course requirement organization foregrounds more clearly the possibilities of inter-ethnic and intersectional research and degree paths.

Resource Implications (Provide a statement of the resource requirements for the program, and an indication of whether you can meet these requirements through your existing resources, or have received additional resources from the Dean.)

Arts & Science - Divisional Data: For further definition of these objectives, see the Degree Objectives Guidelines (July 2008).

Academic Context (Outline the context that explains why the program is designed this way, e.g. relation of program to discipline, students’ interests, career paths, etc.)

Provide clearer framework for course requirements for students, and supporting degree and program interdisciplinarity.

Learning Outcomes (Explain how the change affects the program learning outcomes, including disciplinary goals, relevant methodologies and skills acquired upon program completion.)

Unchanged.

Depth of Knowledge (Explain how particular courses allow students to achieve depth of knowledge, relating to the proposed change.)

Unchanged.

Competencies: For these five categories, describe how each competency is developed within the program to the degree relevant to the area/discipline. If the program does not address a particular competency, explain why that competency is not relevant to your area/discipline and how students in your program are expected to attain that competency within their overall degree program.

Minor Program Modification Form

Use this form to develop a proposal for a Minor Modification to Program including:

- Creating a new Minor program, where there is an existing Specialist or Major program
- Closing a Minor program
- Creating or closing a Focus
- Changing a Program Type (e.g. Type 1, 2, 2L, 3) – this includes introducing or changing restrictions on enrolment in the program
- Changing Enrolment or Admission requirements
- Changing the total FCEs or required courses in program requirements

Minor program modification proposals will normally be submitted directly on CM, however this form can be used to draft a proposal that can be easily circulated in review and consultation with academic units, the Office of the Dean, or the Office of the Faculty Registrar.

Timeline

Program modifications require consultation and review with the Dean’s Office before proceeding to Governance approval. Units are encouraged to begin the consultation process as early as possible, as the Dean’s Office can assist with proposal development and ensure needed consultation is undertaken. Proposal submission on CM can be completed following full Dean’s Office review and sign-off.

The Health Studies Program explores how health around the world is shaped by the circumstances in which people are born, grow up, live, work, and age, and how these in turn connect to a wider set of environmental, social, cultural, economic, and political forces. Understanding health requires knowledge from a range of disciplines and sectors: Health Studies offers a stimulating interdisciplinary environment that challenges students to think about health – both locally and globally – in new ways.

Enrolment Requirements:

This is a limited enrolment program. Note there are different options depending on whether a student has completed between 4.0 and 8.5 credits, or 9.0 or more credits.

Variable Minimum Grade Average

A minimum grade average in required courses is needed for entry, and this minimum changes each year depending on available spaces and the number of applicants. The following courses must be completed:

For students who have completed between 4.0 and 8.5 credits:

- 1.0 credit from: ANT100Y1/ BIO130H1/ GGR107H1/ HPS100H1/ HPS110H1/ HPS120H1/ PCL102H1/ PHS100H1/ PHL100Y1/ PHL101Y1/ POL101Y1/ PSY100H1/ SOC100H1/ TRN135Y1/ UNI103H1/ UNI103Y1/ WGS160Y1. If more than 1.5 credits have been completed, the minimum grade average will be based on the higher course grades.

To ensure that students admitted to the program will be successful, applicants with a grade average lower than 70% in required courses will not usually be considered for admission. Please note that obtaining this minimum grade average does not guarantee admission to the program.

For students who have completed 9.0 credits or more:

- 70% in 1.5 credits from: ANT100Y1/ BIO130H1/ GGR107H1/ HPS100H1/ HPS110H1/ HPS120H1/ HST209H1/ HST211H1/ HST250H1/ PCL102H1/ PHL100Y1/ PHL101Y1/ PHS100H1/ POL101Y1/ PSY100H1/ SOC100H1/ TRN135Y1/ UNI103H1/ UNI103Y1/ WGS160Y1. If more than 1.5 credits have been completed, the minimum grade average will be based on the higher course grades.

To ensure that students admitted to the program will be successful, applicants with a grade average lower than 70% in required courses will not usually be considered for admission. Please note that obtaining this minimum grade average does not guarantee admission to the program.

The Health Studies Program explores how health around the world is shaped by the circumstances in which people are born, grow up, live, work, and age, and how these in turn connect to a wider set of environmental, social, cultural, economic, and political forces. Understanding health requires knowledge from a range of disciplines and sectors: Health Studies offers a stimulating interdisciplinary environment that challenges students to think about health – both locally and globally – in new ways.

Enrolment Requirements:

This is a limited enrolment program. Note there are different options depending on whether a student has completed between 4.0 and 8.5 credits, or 9.0 or more credits.

Variable Minimum Grade Average
A minimum grade average in required courses is needed for entry, and this minimum changes each year depending on available spaces and the number of applicants. The following courses must be completed:

For students who have completed between 4.0 and 8.5 credits:

- 1.0 credit from: ANT100Y1/ BIO130H1/ GGR107H1/ HPS100H1/ HPS110H1/ HPS120H1/ PCL102H1/ PHS100H1/ PHL100Y1/ POL101H1/ PSY100H1/ SOC100H1/ TRN135Y1/ UNI103H1/ UNI103Y1/ WGS160Y1. If more than 1.5 credits have been completed, the minimum grade average will be based on the higher course grades.

To ensure that students admitted to the program will be successful, applicants with a grade average lower than 70% in required courses will not usually be considered for admission. Please note that obtaining this minimum grade average does not guarantee admission to the program.

For students who have completed 9.0 credits or more:

- 70% in 1.5 credits from: ANT100Y1/ BIO130H1/ GGR107H1/ HPS100H1/ HPS110H1/ HPS120H1/ HST209H1/ HST211H1/ HST250H1/ PCL102H1/ PHL100Y1/ POL101H1/ PSY100H1/ SOC100H1/ TRN135Y1/ UNI103H1/ UNI103Y1/ WGS160Y1. If more than 1.5 credits have been completed, the minimum grade average will be based on the higher course grades.

Proposal Questions - General

Brief Description of the Proposed Changes (Provide a brief summary.)
The changes are being made to reflect updates to curricular offerings in Health Studies and other units.

Details of the Proposed Changes (Changes to program description, requirements, and program learning outcomes.)

1. POL101Y is no longer offered. It has been changed to POL101H.

2. HST305H and HST306H have been added to the program offerings (approved 2020-2021) and are now included among the list of courses in item 9 of the course requirements.

3. Requirement # 4: Students in Health Studies are required to take a course in statistics. Previously only STA220H was listed—now STA220H and all of its exclusions are listed, to make it more clear to students what courses they may take towards the completion of this part of their degree requirements.

Rationale (Explain why the changes have been proposed, providing any additional information that may be helpful for review, or of relevance for Curriculum Committees. This may include connections to the unit’s priorities, recent reviews or institutional planning, or alignment with other programs.)

The changes are to reflect changes in course offerings in Health Studies and other units.

Impact (Specify the impact the changes will have on students, and on other units/programs. If courses listed in the program are offered by other units, include a letter of support from the head of that unit, speaking to enrolment controls and priority enrolment, if applicable.)

More clarity for students in the programs.

Consultation (Describe consultation that has already been done with students, faculty, and other units.)

The proposed changes have also been approved by the University College Curriculum Committee, and University College Council [PENDING].

Diversity (How does the proposed program or modification support diversity? E.g through curriculum design supporting different learners, accommodation, etc.)

N/A

Arts & Science - Divisional Data: For further definition of these objectives, see the Degree Objectives Guidelines (July 2008).

Use this form to develop a proposal for a Minor Modification to Program including:

- Creating a new Minor program, where there is an existing Specialist or Major program
- Closing a Minor program
- Creating or closing a Focus
- Changing a Program Type (e.g. Type 1, 2, 2L, 3) – this includes introducing or changing restrictions on enrolment in the program
- Changing Enrolment or Admission requirements
- Changing the total FCEs or required courses in program requirements

Minor program modification proposals will normally be submitted directly on CM, however this form can be used to draft a proposal that can be easily circulated in review and consultation with academic units, the Office of the Dean, or the Office of the Faculty Registrar.

Timeline

Program modifications require consultation and review with the Dean’s Office before proceeding to Governance approval. Units are encouraged to begin the consultation process as early as possible, as the Dean’s Office can assist with proposal development and ensure needed consultation is undertaken. Proposal submission on CM can be completed following full Dean’s Office review and sign-off.

2. HST305H and HST306H have been added to the program offerings (approved 2020-2021) and are now included among the list of courses in item 9 of the course requirements.

3. Requirement #4: Students in Health Studies are required to take a course in statistics. Previously only STA220H was listed—now STA220H and all of its exclusions are listed, to make it more clear to students what courses they may take towards the completion of this part of their degree requirements

Rationale (Explain why the changes have been proposed, providing any additional information that may be helpful for review, or of relevance for Curriculum Committees. This may include connections to the unit’s priorities, recent reviews or institutional planning, or alignment with other programs.)

The changes are to reflect changes in course offerings in Health Studies and other units.

Impact (Specify the impact the changes will have on students, and on other units/programs. If courses listed in the program are offered by other units, include a letter of support from the head of that unit, speaking to enrolment controls and priority enrolment, if applicable.)

More clarity for students in the programs.

Consultation (Describe consultation that has already been done with students, faculty, and other units.)

The proposed changes have also been approved by the University College Curriculum Committee, and University College Council [PENDING].

Diversity (How does the proposed program or modification support diversity? E.g through curriculum design supporting different learners, accommodation, etc.)
